Stephen Clackson's Letter from School Place

Reporting on the work of your councillor in Orkney and beyond

February 2019

The meeting of the Education, Leisure & Housing Committee was untypically more about housing than education, but spiced with a little light leisure relief. On the Rae's Close sheltered housing issue, I was one of the 5 councillors supporting the amendment not to simply stop the sleep-in service, but to let it gradually expire by no longer offering it to new tenants. Sadly, for those relying on a promise made by OIC decades ago, 7 other councillors thought differently. My point of view is that the public has to be able to have confidence in Council promises. I was pleased to see that our museum Collections Development Policy incorporates policies compliant with national standards, because, as I pointed out, in the past Orkney has not had a glowing record of looking after its heritage. I cited the Odin Stone, Kirkwall Castle and the great auk as examples! The Committee received a very comprehensive update and action plan for support for learning. I requested that future updates be just as comprehensive and not "dumbed-down for councillors". The Scottish-Government-imposed "Early Learning & Childcare" worries me. In my mind it is too reminiscent of what went on in communist countries, where the mothers worked while the state indoctrinated their children. ("Give me a child until he is 7, and I will show you the man.") I asked if funding could be given directly to parents to enable them to stay at home and do their own early learning & childcare, but it seems this option is not available—unless the parent happens to have the appropriate early learning & childcare qualifications!

I joined the Orkney Youth Conference around lunchtime and was pleased to see that pupils from the Sanday and Westray Junior High Schools were able to attend. In fact, there was even a contingent from Shetland!

At our Special Policy & Resources Committee meeting setting OIC's budget and council tax levels for 2019/20, I was delighted that my former amendment (see my December 2018 Letter) had become part of the recommendations and was passed, meaning that (subject to ratification at the Special General Meeting*) "from 1 April 2019, a second home discount of 50% should apply where a person's sole or main residence in Orkney is separated from their place of work by a body of water, the transport provision over which does not permit daily commuting between their sole or main residence and their place of work, and they occupy a second home in Orkney to enable them to maintain that employment." Furthermore, I have received assurances that a dispensation from charging for overnight parking is going to be looked into for those who keep a campervan or caravan on the Mainland for the same reason, particularly as some Isles' residents had mentioned this use in their response to the Consultation on proposed new and increased charges. Regrettably, less notice had been taken of the consultation where the majority of the respondents had been against the proposed charges for collecting special household waste (increase of 179%!) and bin replacement. I said that ignoring this simply reinforces the public perception that consultations are pointless. Although my amendment to remove these changes was defeated (16 votes to 5), a further amendment by my colleague, Dr Woodbridge, which concentrated solely on removing the special household waste charge increase for Isles' residents, succeeded (12 votes to 9). So, all in all, it was a good day for "Isles-proofing". Decisions on charging for staying in the Papdale Halls are to be deferred until after its consultation has taken place.

At the normal Policy & Resources Committee meeting, I congratulated officers for explicitly recognising "peripherality and island-proofing" in our new Community Consultation and Engagement Policy. However, the Isles are being forgotten when it comes to road safety. Our annual grant from Transport Scotland to support safer streets in Orkney is being used to extend the 20mph speed limit on Pickaquoy Road, rather than reduce the 40mph limit around some of our Isles' schools.

Other meetings I have attended this month include: a budget-setting seminar, an update on the Islands Deal project, a meeting of the Monitoring & Audit Committee, a strategic projects update, and the Air & Ferry Consultative Forums.

I shall be coming to Shapinsay on the 27th February for a meeting of their community council.

* The Special General Meeting for ratifying our budget and council tax levels for 2019/20 has been deferred until we know how much money will actually be coming our way from Government Scotland.
